Yellow warning
Thunderstorm

Between 12:00 Sat 25 Jul 2020 and
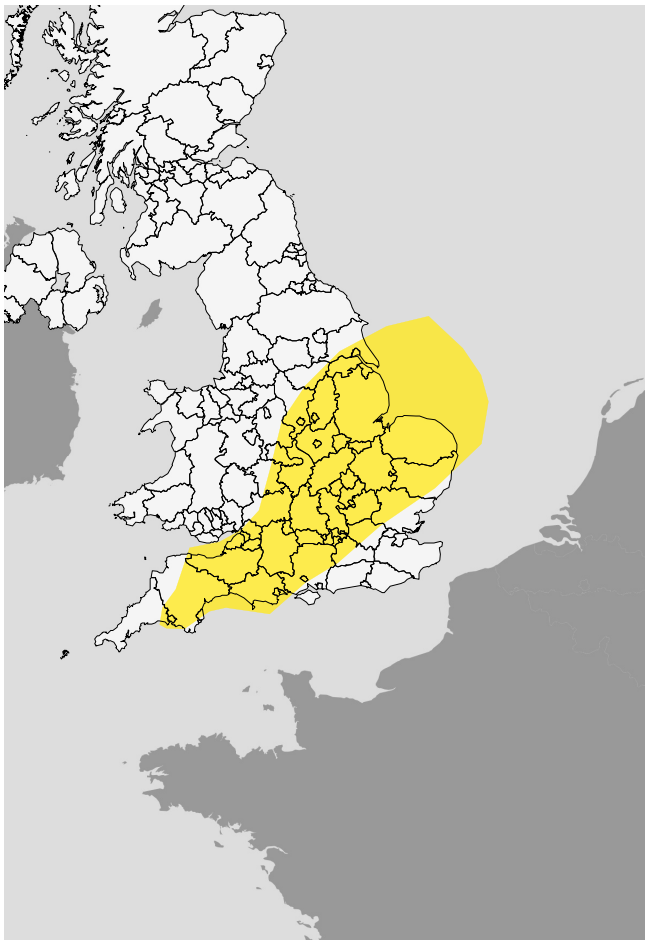
23:59 Sat 25 Jul 2020



While many places will miss the heaviest showers, bands of thunderstorms will likely bring some disruption

What to expect

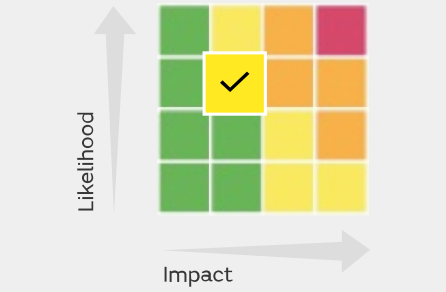
- There is a good chance driving conditions will be affected by spray, standing water and/or hail, leading to longer journey times by car and bus
- Some short term loss of power and other services is likely
- Some flooding of a few homes and businesses likely, leading to some damage to buildings or structures
- Probably some damage to a few buildings and structures from lightning strikes
- Delays to train services are possible

Further details

During Saturday afternoon bands of thunderstorms are expected to develop over central and southern England. These will gradually move eastwards during the rest of the day, finally clearing the east of England late this evening.

These will bring heavy rain with 20 mm of rain possible in an hour in some locations and a chance of 30-40 mm in a couple of hours though most areas will see much less rainfall.

Lightning and hail are additional hazards, along with gusty winds, particularly from late afternoon into the evening in south and southeastern parts.



Medium likelihood of low impacts
